I think that all automobiles should be tested fully inorder to save the people that get into car accidents. If car manufactures do not test the cars fully they will not know what will happen to the drivers and other passengers and can not provide more safety precautions in the vehicles. I also think that air bags in the front and the curtain on the side of cars is a good idea because it provides more protection for passengers.